MYSTERY VEILING
MANY ACTIVITIES
IN YUGOSLAVIAOne Intrigue May Involve
Soviet-Sponsored Plot To

Concerns A High-Ranking
Officer of UDBA, Secret
Organization

Strong elements are at work against the Communist dictatorship of Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia. In the following article, third in a series of four by INS General European Manager Kingsbury Smith on "Tito—The Red Riddle," the conspiracies are highlighted by "The Mystery of the Green Apples."

By Kingsbury Smith
European General Manager, I. N. S.
PARIS, May 24—(INS)—Behind the scenes in Yugoslavia today mysterious things are going on.

There is, for example, the mystery of the "green apples."

This is a code name for intrigue. It may involve a Soviet-sponsored Cominform plot to undermine Marshal Tito's secret police or a plan to precipitate a revolt against his regime.

This correspondent heard about the conspiracy by chance in Belgrade. Details are lacking, but it concerns a high ranking officer of UDBA, the secret police organization which is one of the main instruments by which Tito maintains his Communist dictatorship.

This officer lives alone in Belgrade, occupying a room in a requisitioned house. Recently he dropped hints to those he suspected of being unsympathetic to Tito that he shared the same view. He also indicated pro-Russian sentiments.

Then one midnight a strange figure entered the grounds of the house. He knocked quietly on the window of the UDBA officer's room. When the latter opened the window, the stranger whispered:

"The apples are green."

Immediately the UDBA officer dressed and left the house. He did not return that night. Since that time, he has frequently left the house late at night and not returned until the early hours of the morning.

Whether the mysterious movements of this officer were connected with a Cominform plot against Tito could not be ascertained, but it is assumed by Western diplomats in Belgrade that the Soviet bloc is undoubtedly trying to organize an underground movement against his regime.

Tito told this correspondent that "the idea of such a movement in Yugoslavia existed only in the imagination of the Cominform leaders."

However, Yugoslavian government officials frankly admit that Cominform agents are sent into Yugoslavia from the neighboring Soviet satellite states for the purpose of trying to incite rebellion and for sabotage.

The officials, like Tito, maintain that these agents fail in their efforts and that no organized underground movement against the regime exists.

Nevertheless, Tito's regime faces opposition on three fronts in Yugoslavia today.

First and most dangerous is the Soviet threat against him, which includes an economic blockade and constant propaganda attacks.

Secondly, there is opposition by old royalist elements.

Third is the passive opposition of Lads' Boat Trip to Ky.

Interrupted by Police

Two Trenton, N. J., youths, 11 and 13 years of age, had their boat trip to Kentucky interrupted at the Columbia Yacht Club in Philadelphia. The two boys, Samuel McGlynn, 11, of 527 Johnson avenue, Michael Bogges, 13, of 275 Norway avenue, were brought back to Bristol yesterday by Chief of Police Linford J. Jones, who later returned them to the custody of their families.

The boys told police that after leaving Trenton they had stolen seven row-boats enroute to Bristol, abandoning first one and then the other. Here they took the outboard motor of George Schultz, Burlington Island, and attached a rowboat to it. They then sailed down the Delaware river, with the intention of making their way by devious routes to the Ohio river to Kentucky where a sister of one of the lads lives, and where his former home is located.

JUDGE HIRAM H. KELLER REPRIMANDS
JURY FOR THE VERDICT IT RETURNED

DOYLESTOWN, May 24—A number of cases involving residents of this area were before the grand jury, this week.

Declaring that he didn't often reprimand juries because he didn't like to do it, President Judge Hiram H. Keller, after a jury acquitted Milton Garrison, 28, Croydon, of assault and battery but placed the costs on him, said: "That's a poor verdict. The defendant was guilty beyond a doubt. I don't often criticize juries, but you deserve to be scolded."

"This defendant," said President Judge Keller, "has been in court several times. Since you returned a verdict of not guilty all I can do now is sentence him to pay the costs of prosecution."

"He still owes costs of about $40 on another criminal case which was in court previously."

The defendant, who is now in the County Prison, was arrested May 15 on charges of assault and battery, disorderly conduct and surety of the peace by Chief of Police Joseph O. Seader, of Bristol township.

He was arrested April 22 on three charges, solicitation to commit sodomy, assault and battery with intent to ravish and assault and battery. The Grand Jury found not a true bill on the sodomy count and yes-

WASHINGTON CROSSING, May 24—That "History is yesterday's fact which, understood today, may shape tomorrow" was given emphasis yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Ann Hawkes Hutton, of Edgely, addressed members of Bucks County Federation of Women's Club at a picnic meeting at Bowman's Hill. Brings Roll Up To Ten Again

ALIAS "THE ANGEL"

Since International News Service began a publication March 13 of a series directing national attention to the FBI's list of "ten most wanted" fugitive criminals, four of the desperadoes have been captured.

Two—William Raymond Nesbitt, escaped murderer, and Orba Elmer Jackson, post office bandit—were seized as a direct result of the INS articles.

FBI agents also recaptured Lee Emory Downs, veteran safecracker, and recently nabbed Stephen William Davenport, another master criminal.

Today the name of Frederick J. Tenuto, alias "The Angel," a ruthless murderer and desperado who has an almost fantastic record of prison escapes.

By James Lee
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, May 24—(INS)—The FBI today placed on its list of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals Frederick J. Tenuto, alias "The Angel," ruthless murderer and desperado who has an almost fantastic record of prison escapes.

Tenuto, a gangland associate of the notorious "Willie the Actor" Sutton, is the fourth fugitive added to the "most wanted" list since International News Service began distribution of the original roster March 13.

Four master criminals have been captured since that date. They are William Raymond Nesbitt, seized at St. Paul, Minn.; Orba Elmer Jackson, arrested at Aloha, Ore.; Lee Emory Downs, caught at Daytona Beach, Fla., and Stephen William Davenport, nabbed at Las Vegas, Nev.

Tenuto, a short, swarthy, native of Philadelphia, already was known as a chronic criminal when he was convicted in 1940 of the peculiarly brutal slaying of James DeCaro.

The only reason for the crime was that DeCaro was the father of a man Tenuto regarded as an "enemy."

After the murder conviction, Tenuto was given additional sentences for assault and robbery. He owes society a minimum of 45 years behind bars.

Tenuto's spectacular series of escapes began Sept. 27, 1942, when he used a pipe ladder to scramble to freedom from the Graterford (Pa.) branch of the Eastern State Penitentiary.

He was recaptured the next day and sent to the main Eastern State

72 Children Receive
First Holy Communion

Sunday morning marked an impressive and beautiful ceremony when 72 little children received Holy Communion for the first time. The Mass was celebrated by the pastor, the Rev. E. Paul Baird, and in his talk, which he addressed to the children and their parents, he pointed out their nearness to God, and the peace and beauty of a life in close union with God by means of frequent Holy Communion.

The girls were attired in white dresses and white veils, while the boys wore white suits.

The annual May Procession of all the pupils of St. Mark's School took place Sunday afternoon, forming in the school yard and walking up Radcliffe street to the Church, the children created an impressive sight to the spectators. Upon reaching the church hymns were sung in honor of the Mother of God. All present assisted at the Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, which was given by Father Baird.

The May Queen was Miss Lorraine Bobbs, who recited the crowning piece. She had for her attendants the junior class of St. Mark's commercial, and immediately following the junior class were the graduates, wearing their caps and gowns of royal blue and gold. The flower girls were little Regina Burd and Kathleen Amison, while the ribbon bearers were Mary Ellen Larrisey and Marie Prall; the programs were presented by Edward Lawler.

SAY BRIDGE PRICE
WAS NOT QUESTIONEDTwo Ex-Freeholders Testify at Hearing Held in Newark

ACCEPTED PRICE

It was testified yesterday in the New Jersey Superior Court at Newark that the Tacony-Palmyra and Burlington-Bristol bridges were bought by the Burlington county, N. J., freeholders for the $12,400,000 asked by the owners without even an attempt to bargain for a lower price.

Two former freeholders, appearing as witnesses for the State in Governor Alfred E. Driscoll's suit to cancel the sale, said they had not even heard of the deal until it had reached its final stage.

Driscoll had charged that the purchase was swayed with "fraud, misrepresentation and undue influence" while the State was preparing to acquire the bridges for $4,900,000 by condemnation.

Stanley Russ, who was a freeholder in October, 1948, when the bridges were bought, told Superior Court Judge Walter J. Freund he was not "let in" on the transaction until two days before it took place. He had not heard until that time that the bridges were for sale or who owned them.

Under questioning by former State Attorney General Walter D. Van Riper, who was retained by the State for the bridge case because he had been assigned to it while in office, Russ testified that Maj. Gen. Clifford R. Powell, Republican county leader, explained the terms of the purchase at a freeholders' meeting on October 29th, 1948.

Powell, he said, told the board he had an interest in the bridge, but did not say how great nor what profit he would realize. Since then, Powell has said he made a $309,699 profit on a $12,500 investment.

The other ex-freeholder, Albert C. Jones, testified that he learned of the transaction only on the day it was put through.

Mine Detector Used—Officers and Residents of Area Pick

Calibre—Is Yet To Be Determined If It Could Have Been Fired From A Lugar.

CROYDON, May 24—The bullet believed to have caused the death of David Sklar, president and part-owner of the Safe Food Market here, Friday evening, was found yesterday afternoon at about four o'clock. The finding of the bullet ended a carefully-planned and systematic search of the ground on which Sklar is supposed to have fallen, and where he was shot.

Pennsylvania State Police from Langhorne barracks, Bucks County Detective, and a number of individuals participated in the search for the bullet. Cpl. Charles Jones, State Police, Langhorne, and Bucks County Detective Fred Kohler, assisted by Francis Seader, brother of Bristol Township Chief of Police Joseph Seader, and Frank N. Thomas, a nearby resident, along with others, dug into the ground and finally unearthed the bullet.

The bullet is of .38 calibre, according to state police, and whether it could have been fired from the Lugar found near the hold-up scene is yet to be determined, police say.

Hours of strenuous work were put in by Corporal Charles Jones, Penna.

State Police, Langhorne, and Bucks County Detective Fred Kohler, yesterday afternoon, in an effort to locate the missing bullet.

The two law enforcement officers assisted by Francis Seader, brother of Bristol Township Police Chief, Joseph Seader, picked loose and dug a trench along the back of the Safe Food Market, paralleling the P.R.R. tracks. All of the dirt, consisting of stones, mortar, and concrete was shoveled out and sifted a shovel full at a time.

Every inch of ground was gone over with the mine detector.

Peter Harkins, butcher of the market and Allen A. Ostroff, brother-in-law of Sklar, and both of whom were beaten and knocked down, along with Sklar previous to his being shot, posed for the officers, indicating as nearly as they could remember, their relative positions at the time of the murdering of Sklar.

Thomas called Chief of Police Linford J. Jones in Bristol yesterday, and asked for permission to search for the bullet. He was referred to the state police and other officers who were then engaged in hunting for it. Thomas, with a piece of jagged rock, dug about the ground and aided in locating the object of the search.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

(Distributed by International News Service)

Arrangements are being made for your congressman to get you a piece of the White House regardless of how you voted for him . . . if you're sure you did.

A part of the White House will be saved so that Republicans can't get enough of the pieces to put together and start a new one.

But they're not much interested in accumulating the White House planks and plaster . . . just give them the key and they'll be satisfied.

There's quite a scramble in Washington for souvenirs . . . hostesses are rated by whether their husbands are of six-plank or two-splinter importance.

There's no real hurry on completing renovations . . . the present lease-holder expects to sleep away from home quite a bit from now through the next election.

But if you want a plank, write to your congressman . . . he can get you one from an old platform if nothing else.

A HALT ON HANDOUTS

There has been so much funny business, even racketeering, about unemployment compensation that a decision by the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court is doubly to be welcomed. By this ruling the state's highest court declares that a woman who refused an available job because she preferred to work in a small office had thereby forfeited her right to compensation.

In handing down the verdict the court made these wholesome observations:

Unemployment benefits are not for those who would be engaged in suitable employment if they were willing to work rather than remain idle. . . . A claimant must be capable and available for work and ready and willing to obtain suitable employment. He must act in good faith and make reasonable effort to secure employment which he is qualified by experience and training to perform."

Probably it is too much to expect that social security and welfare systems will ever be 100 per cent clean. As long as it is to the advantage of politicians to engineer handouts of public funds, a great many undeserving people will continue to be supported in idleness. But every little step toward decent dealing, like the one now taken in Massachusetts, represents progress in the right direction.

Indeed, it does more than that. It puts further off the day when demands for benefits so far exceed available money that the system will go broke and still higher taxes will be necessary to keep it in operation.

It is to every honest citizen's interest to have only those obtain compensation who are really entitled to it.

SOUND OFF AND CLEAN UP

A new electric washer, we hear, washes clothes with sound. Oh, it uses soap and water, too. But it is claimed (we haven't used the washer, and this is not an endorsement) that it is sound which really loosens the dirt without wear and tear on the clothes.

The mechanism produces sound waves in the water, which oscillates at a frequency of 120 times a second. Pretty soon the dirt is so shaken that it lets go.

We'd like to hear more about it. Is there any way, for instance, of harnessing ordinary sound waves to a washer to get the same effect? If so, there are housewives we know who should be able to get into the laundry business and clean up.

Properly hooked up, the sound waves that Mother emits when she is trying to get Junior to wash his face and hands really clean ought to do the job almost unaided. If cleanliness is not only sound in principle but sound in action, silence will cease to be golden.

"The mails must go through." Except when a feather-bedding outfit calls a rail strike.

Expressing pleasure of one newspaper's criticism of her book, in which it was called "America's very own Christmas story," Mrs. Hutton reminded that when historic acts are more thoroughly understood they may shape tomorrow. "When the young people go over the educational trail (sponsored originally by the Bucks Co. Federation of Women's Clubs), when they visit the point of embarkation, and the graves of that little band of soldiers down near the river, they know we have a story to tell them—one that will help them in their attitudes. The young people need to know more of their heritage."

At this juncture she reminded of a recent article by General Eisenhower, in which he mentioned that millions of G.I.'s during World War II didn't know what they were fighting for. "Whose fault is it? The schools' and the parents'! And I feel it is primarily the parents' fault. We can't instill these great, sacrificial acts of history into our children unless we are enthused about them ourselves. I would like to see all high school pupils of Bucks County come here, and see that they know the tremendous significance of the story behind this park. History is one of the most important things pupils study. They study French, English, mathematics, and so on—but they live history. My definition is 'History is yesterday's fact which, understood today, may shape tomorrow'."

Stress was given to the need to better understand what the men were doing at Washington Crossing in that crucial period, and of understanding their thoughts and actions. "History should be more than statement of fact—you should understand it." Making a comparison between the fame of Valley Forge and Washington Crossing, Mrs. Hutton reminded how certain military leaders and historians feel that Washington Crossing turned the tide during the Revolution.

Continuing, the speaker said: "To understand the influence of this period in history of the United States, we have to realize some things the school books have never recognized. Among these were that the people of that period were not 100% behind the cause, only a handful of leaders and some hardy patriots." She traced the dark days of the Revolution from the battle of Long Island (after the signing of the Declaration of Independence) with the Americans being overwhelmed at Fort Mifflin. The thousands of men and the great prestige lost were mentioned. Washington, and his men escaping through northern New Jersey in the nick of time. That deserters were numerous was disheartening, the speaker reminded. "Washington knew that time was almost up for definite action, and he decided on a move that was the most important of the Revolution. He looked ahead and gave orders to proceed to here, all boats to be gathered up so he could get his men across, and the British having no boats being unable to follow them. Washington knew this must be victory or death. There was panic in Philadelphia at the time. It is a sad commentary on Congress that Washington's men had to secure old clothes from other sources.

Those men who did remain loyal stayed here because they knew what they were fighting for. A handful of men who know what they are fighting for is worth a million who don't know."

The one making history come alive for the club women also recalled how Washington had the stirring words of Thomas Payne—"These are the times that try men's souls"—read to his men. "These words were first used here in our own Bucks County. They were written about the retreat through the Jerseys." Mrs. Hutton then traced the march to Trenton, after two other generals were unable to cross the Delaware River at Bristol and at Trenton. "But Washington crossed. Can you picture that band of soldiers marching down that early river road—a road muddy, rutty and frozen—the men ill shod, and with sleet stinging their faces? They had nothing to go on but a history of defeat. But Payne's words were on their lips. That victory at Trenton was the first victory of the United States. It was the turning point of the war. There arose a new interest and enthusiasm in the cause. The whole picture was changed. It literally turned the tide of the Revolution. . . . Possibly the message of those soldiers who lie over there is that their act of yesterday may shape a little bit today your ideals of freedom for tomorrow. Was their object—liberty—in greater danger than today? The message of those men who camped here and of those who died here is that we might uphold those ideals of freedom."

A short talk was given by Mrs. E. Wilmer Fisher, president of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs. She expressed the hope of the federation developing some Girl Scout activity to help the girls become better acquainted with the trails and the beauty of the park.

In her welcome, Mrs. Tomb recalled for the group that the educational trail at the Bowman's Hill Wild Flower Preserve was sponsored by the federation for several years, this being known as the "Mary K. Parry Trail" in honor of the one who suggested a wild flower preserve be established on Bowman's Hill. Reminiscences of Mrs. Tomb also included the fact that the clubs had helped raise money to erect the pavilion, and for a time how each club planted and cared for a section of the plantings. "Later the park officials assumed care of the trails and plantings," she added. Mrs. J. Leon Baker, Langhorne, county chairman of conservation and gardens, had this to say: "We of the county women's clubs have helped to create this beautiful thing around Bowman's Hill, and in doing it have added beauty to our own lives." She called upon Mrs. G. Petry, of Warrington; Mrs. Wainwright, of Chalfont; Mrs. Russell Janney, of Newtown; and Mrs. Richard Cooper, Doylestown, to tell of plans for fall activities along conservation and garden lines. The first three are chairmen of that department in their own clubs, and Mrs. Cooper is junior chairman of conservation and gardens. Mrs. Margaret Matthews, horticulturist at the preserve, spoke briefly. She said that "The wildflower preserve also has historical significance." She told how the Quaker botanist, John Bartram, made journeys through the area, and how he sent plants and seeds to his friends here and in England. "His was the first botanical garden in the United States. Special orders were issued by officers to the soldiers not to molest John Bartram's gardens. One of the purposes of the preserve is to keep native plants that were here when Bartram and Washington were here." Announcement was made of the Bucks Co. Federation summer conference at Pennsbury on Tuesday, June 27th, at 10.30 a. m., when plans for the coming federation year will be made. Opportunity to tour the education trail was provided following picnic lunch.

HIGH SCHOOL NINE STILL HOPES TO GET FIRST PLACE

FALLSINGTON, May 24—Bristol High maintained its hopes for first place in the Lower Bucks County League by beating Pennsylvania High, 11-9, in a slugging match yesterday.

It was an extra inning fracas. Pennsylvania will play Morrisville this afternoon in the playoff of a protested game. The game will be played from the fourth inning on. Morrisville will have a 1-0 lead with a runner on third base. Should Morrisville win out, Bristol will play Council Rock and if victorious will tie Pennsylvania for the crown.

Bristol made 16 hits in the contest and Pennsylvania had eleven. Both "Jim" Morrell and Jack Perry were pounded unmercifully by the batters.

Coach Jerry Bloom's team won the game by scoring three times in the eighth when Braam hit safely and Barbetta walked. Lou Loeffler followed with a two-bagger. Barbetta was picked off third. Moll got on via a fielder's choice but Joe Dominick slammed out a triple to clinch the tilt.

In the last half of the inning, John Paone opened with a triple and scored via an error but the next three batters were helpless.

Loeffler with four out of five led the winners with the stick while Paone had two triples and a single for Pennsylvania.

Line-ups:

GEORGE SCHOOL KEEPS NET RECORD CLEAN

NEWTOWN, May 24 — George School Community Tennis Club's netmen kept their Philadelphia "B" league record unmarred on Sunday at West Chester as Bill Dwyer of Newtown provided the spark that carried them to a dramatic 5-4 victory.

The tennis team, which plays home matches at George School, has now won its first two starts and completes its "away" matches May 27 at Idle Hour T. C. in Drexel Hill.

After West Chester had taken two of the first three singles matches, both Dwyer and Paul Blanshard, playing No. 6 and No. 4 respectively, pulled out hard-fought encounters to give George School C.T.C. an even split, 3-3, in singles. Jim Seegers and Les Birks won third doubles handily. Then Dwyer, paired with Rus Cloak, scored the second doubles triumph that meant the match for the weary victors.

Following are the match scores of the win over West Chester T. C.: Singles—Ray McClung (WC) def. Johnny McGrath (GS) 6-1, 6-2; Dick Braunlich (WC) def. Rus Cloak (GS) 6-0, 6-4; Bob Biddle (GS) def. Lucian Manley (WC) 6-4, 6-1; Paul Blanshard (GS) def. Ed Velt (WC) 6-8, 6-2, 6-4; Harry Cann (WC) def. Frank Blank (GS) 3-6, 7-5, 11-9; Bill Dwyer (GS) def. Sam Gregg (WC) 6-6, 8-6, 6-4. Doubles—Braunlich and McClung (WC) def. Blanshard and McGrath 6-2, 6-4; Cloak and Dwyer (GS) def. Cann and Len Hagerty (WC) 6-1, 6-4; Jim Seegers and Les Birks (GS) def. Henry Moore and Don Swayne (WC) 6-3, 6-3.

BABY'S SHOES AND FEET

If we look at the baby's tiny foot with the aid of an X-ray, it does not appear to be 26 connected bones, but 26 bony masses which do not seem to touch each other. These bony masses are soft and pliable, and an ill-fitting shoe can soon distort them. This is a critical period in children when the bones are forming and uniting to each other, because the foot can be easily shaped, either bent and deformed or made strong and sturdy. A child's shoe should be broad and conform to the shape of the foot. Lace shoes are always desirable because they furnish additional support to the delicate growing structures of the youngster's feet. Dependable shoe stores always measure and fit the feet accurately, upon weight bearing, by selecting the right type of shoe, according to the age of the child to be fitted. It is always wise to have your chiropodist check the baby's feet and footwear periodically.

BENSALEM NINE TAKES 3RD PLACE BY A VICTORY

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 24 — Bensalem Township took possession of third place in the Lower Bucks County League yesterday with a 6-5 win over Morrisville. It was Bensalem's fifth win of the campaign.

Bob Marshall hurled Coach Marlon VanHorn's team to the triumph and allowed the Bulldogs but six hits. With the exception of the final frame, Marshall was never in serious trouble.

"Al" Bader handled Marshall's slants handily and contributed three hits to the Bensalem attack.

Bob Felver had two of Morrisville's six bingles.

AUTO BOYS DROP 4TH GAME IN ROW

The Auto Boys team dropped its fourth straight tilt of the Bristol Softball League last evening as it bowed to the Fifth Ward Sporting Club, 5-2, on Leedom's field. It was the latter's first game of the season.

Paul Paolillo allowed the Auto Boys batters but one hit, a single by Pitcher Reggie Gerome in the sixth inning. He struck out four and walked the same number. With the aid of passes and mis-plays, the Auto Boys had a 2-0 lead going into the fifth.

Three runs in the sixth frame gave the Warders the triumph. In this inning, "Mike" DeLisa had a double and both Nick Lomma and Joe Pica rapped out singles. Two errors also helped the cause.

The winners had eight hits with "Chick" DiAngelo and DeLisa getting two each.
